Facilities Management

www.dcopy.net

Natural work flow

can be difficult for in-house print facilities to accommodate. Research proves that businesses typically follow a natural progression of peaks and valleys in work load. Hence, your in-house facility can frequently be over-staffed or over-worked.

That's where we come in.

Our facilities management solutions are designed to accommodate your work-load while giving you access to a variety of printing and finishing services.

Each DigiCOPY facility is supported by a parent store that can support peak work loads. We give you increased access to equipment, services and staff through our network while reducing capital, labor and management hours.

The Benefits of Facilities Management

- Scalable production solutions based on client's requirement
- Wide range of services
- Access to cutting-edge technology
- Integrated online ordering at no additional cost
- No capital investment required
- No monthly fees, no maintenance fees, no set-up fees
- You pay a cost per copy
- Management of graphic design, print, production, and mail workflow as needed
- On-site and off-site load balancing as print volume dictates
- From a single on-site person to an integrated full-service production center

Background

Since our first store opened in the fall of 2000, our mission has been simple: to build long-term relationships. That's what makes us stand out from conventional digital printers. We not only strive to provide fast, friendly, high quality print service, but also to cherish the relationships we have with our co-workers, customers and communities.

We are constantly developing new and creative ways to serve our customers and communities through digital print and technology. Today, we employ over 100 co-workers across Wisconsin and serve over 1000 companies.
